

HALLBOY ATTEMPTS TO KILL A RICH WOMAN

Mrs. John Henry Ketcham, Wife of the Congressman from the Eighteenth New York District, Is Beaten with an Iron Bar in Attempt to Rob Her.

Mrs. John Henry Ketcham, wife of the Congressman from the Eighteenth District of the State of New York, surprised a negro hallman robbing her apartment at No. 218 West Eighty-second street last Saturday and was attacked by the thief. He beat her on the head with a bar of iron, choked her and finally knotted a necktie around her throat, with the intention of strangling her. When the negro had fled Mrs. Ketcham dragged herself to a window and summoned assistance from the street.

She is a Christian Scientist and did not call a doctor, nor did she notify members of her family of the assault until to-day. The police of the West Sixty-eighth street station are looking for the negro, whose name is Henry Miller. Her husband, away. Furnished apartments are rented at No. 218 West Eighty-second street. Mrs. Ketcham has been living there for some weeks. Her husband, the Congressman, is in Nantucket with his daughter Ethel, a son, Charles B. Ketcham, lives at No. 106 East Fifty-eighth street. It was at his recommendation that his mother went to the Eighty-second street address. The negro Miller, who is a graduate of the Reformatory, and has a bad record generally, was hired last Thursday without any references. He was quick and obliging and the uniform of his predecessor fitted him, so he was engaged. Mrs. Ketcham went shopping Saturday morning. In her absence Miller entered a vacant apartment on the same floor as that of the one occupied by her. He climbed across the airshaft and thus obtained entrance. When Mrs. Ketcham returned shortly before noon the negro was riding her

FIREWORKS BLOW UP; TWO FATALITY HURT.

One Man Reported Killed in the Crash That Wrecked a Shanty at Nutley, N. J.

(Special to The Evening World.) NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 3.—Mrs. Totomolito Suniscola, and her three-year-old son Camillo, who lived at No. 10 Sheffield street, Newark, were brought to the City Hospital in Newark this afternoon in a farmer's wagon in a dying condition as a result of an explosion of fireworks at Nutley. The woman was one of a group of Italians who were found manufacturing fireworks and driven from the city by the police of the Second Precinct some time ago. It is reported here that one person was killed in to-day's explosion. The building, which was a rough one-story affair, was wrecked. In the room were a table, stove and a bed. The woman attempted to pull a trunk containing explosives from the corner toward the door. The child, which was one year old, was playing on the floor. The sudden jar which was exercised is thought to have discharged the bombs. The noise of the shooting bombs was plainly heard a mile away and the shanties in the neighborhood were all shaken.

THE BATTING ORDER.

New York. Conroy, 3b. Elberfeld, ss. Williams, 2b. Howard, cf. Gansel, 1b. McFarland, 1b. Seville, c. Howell, p. Umpire—Mr. Hassett.

(Special to The Evening World.) AMERICAN LEAGUE BATTLE PARK, NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The Invaders went after their third straight from the Quakers this afternoon. This is the last week home for the New Yorkers for about a month, and Griffith means to start West with the team at least as good as second. Just now the chances are bright that his hope will come out, for after to-morrow's game with the Champion Athletics come six games with the Washingtons, and the Senators have not been wearing out any home plates running across them. The Quakers, however, set out with a vengeance to wipe out Wednesday's and Saturday's defeats, and to that end had young Mr. Plank on the board (no joke intended) this afternoon opposing the equally young Mr. E. Deering, chosen to do the slab work for the Invaders. The fans turned out in great shape to see the game. The weather was perfect for ball playing and the crowd was one of the largest of the season.

First Inning. Fultz had no difficulty in getting Hoffman's scorer. The same fielder took Pickering's drive. Davis was safe on a poor throw by Elberfeld. Howell caught Davis napping and he was run down. No runs.

Conroy was an easy out. McCross to Davis. Davis got Keeler's slow roller and tossed out the runner. Elberfeld was hit by pitched ball. He was nailed pilfering, second. No runs.

Second Inning. McCross's liner was knocked down by Conroy. Seybold doubled to right. Murphy followed with a single to left. McCross forced Murphy. Seybold scoring. Powers lifted a weak fly to Williams. One run.

Williams foul flied to L. Cross. Plank flied out Fultz at first. Gansel's sky-rocket was gathered in by Hoffman. No runs.

Third Inning. Plank fanned on tushoots. Hoffman was passed to howl and was thrown out. Davis beat out an infield hit. A snap throw by Seville caught Davis napping off first. No runs.

McFarland flied to Pickering. Seybold made a good catch of Seville's fly. Howell quit on a bounce to Davis. No runs.

Fourth Inning. Howell and Gansel retired L. Cross. Gansel assisted Elberfeld of Seybold. Murphy singled to McFarland's field. He stole second, aided by Seville's poor throw. Conroy and Gansel disposed of L. Cross. No runs.

Courney slammed a long soarer that Pickering after a sprint got under. Keeler's slow roller was fielded in fast style by Cross. Elberfeld's drive to center was good for three bases. Williams ended the inning with a foul to L. Cross. No runs.

BUSINESS MEN PROTEST AGAINST STEALING BROADWAY.

A large number of Broadway merchants and theatrical men met to-day in the parlors of the Fifth Avenue Hotel to protest against the ditching of Broadway to construct the subway. Resolutions were adopted insisting that the street be tunnelled. W. R. H. Martin, of Rogers, Peet & Company, presided. The principal speaker was Al Hayman, a well-known theatrical man. The following committee was appointed to appear before the Rapid Transit Commission and protest against ditching the big business thoroughfare: James Slater, R. J. Donovan, Nathan Strauss, G. T. Stackheim and W. R. H. Martin.

PARKS IS DEFIANT; UNION OBEYS HIM

He Calls Out More Men, Tying Up work in Which J. M. Cornell Is Interested.

At the request of Assistant District Attorney Rand to-day Recorder Goff, in the Court of General Sessions, ordered a special panel of jurors to try Samuel Parks, the indicted walking delegate of the Housewives and Bridgeport's Union, which will be in Aug. 31. Parks's attorney, ex-City Magistrate Brann, strenuously opposed the request.

Walking Delegate Sam Parks threw down the gauntlet to the Building Trades Employers' Association to-day when he called out the ironworkers engaged on several buildings in which J. M. Cornell, President of the Iron League and a power in the Employers' Association, had work in hand. This move was so-called as a direct blow at the Employers' Association.

The Employers' Association had given the members of the union until to-day to sign the agreement, with the alternative of a general lockout. But Delegate Parks unequivocally stated to-day that neither threat nor inducement could prevail upon the union to sign.

All Loyal, Says Parks. Involuntarily Parks made the statement that last Friday, when a number of ironworkers were paid off by J. M. Cornell, they were told that they could not come back to work unless they voted at the union meeting that night against Delegate Parks.

Those men did not vote against Sam Parks," said the delegate to-day, "nor have they gone back to work. I wish it plainly understood that my interests lie only in the Housewives and Bridgeport's Union of Greater New York, and that I am not interested at all in the doings of other labor organizations, although the public at large has been given that impression. Our membership numbers more than five thousand men, and of this number fully 30 per cent. are employed. The remaining 70 per cent. are not at work because they have been locked out by their employers, who are members of the Employers' Association.

Only at War with Cornell. "We are at peace with all the big companies with the exception of the J. M. Cornell concern, and I guess we can get along very well with that small handicap. We do not intend to sign the Employers' agreement, because it is unjust."

Mr. Cornell said that his firm did not know until Saturday that the union had declined all overtures and attempts at arbitration. "Our open letter was our ultimatum," said Mr. Cornell, "and by its means we had hoped to give the union time in which to consider its follies. We did not expect the men to return to us as individuals or to abandon their union nor did we ask or intimate such a thing. The union this morning called out the last of our men at work on Fifth avenue buildings. That leaves us without any men at work. But we have been preparing for this matter energetically. In answer to our advertisements we have received fully 1,500 applications for work from ironworkers and we will now advertise in the out-of-town newspapers. We want 1,500 men in all. When we have secured that number of competent workers we will resume operations. None of the men in our shops have struck. Seventeen years ago they struck inside and outside and we won that fight. We will win the present fight by fair means."

Weather Forecast. The weather forecast for the thirty-six hours ending at 8 P. M. Tuesday for New York City and vicinity is as follows: Partly cloudy to-day and Tuesday; very little wind, mostly light east.
